Mr. Wannop produced the portion of the bladder from which the analysed wimples of lard were taken, and which bore the at-mp Warranted pure lard, J, MS.; and this h submitted was an ample defence. lHe called attention to the fact that his client did his best to supply the best article he could get. and did noi, as in most cases, sell lard manufactured in America, where large quantities of beef stearine were used. Mr. Slattery would also show that the certificate of analysis.was incorrect, because it stated that the lard contained 12 per cent, of beef stearine. He regretted the absence of the public analyst, and had he had earlier notice to d-fend, h (Mr. Wannop) would have secured his attendance. If, however, their worships were of opinion that he had no ldefenco under Section 26 of the Fool and (Drugs Act, he would ask them to aend a sample to Somerset House for independent analysis. His client was peifectly satisfied that there was not one tittle of beef stearine in the lard. Mr. Palmer, for the manufacturers, said he did not admit that there was any warranty Bo far as his clients were concerned. He was present with the.manufacturer from Ireland, who would swev that he did not even know what stearine was. If there was any stearine In the lan! it most have been in the pig (laughter). Mr. Jeremiah Morto slattery, of Tralee, Ireland, manufacturer of lard, deposed he had...
