Not illustrated. 1855 Excerpt: .The Romish Church has always ranged herself on the side of Despotism. -tguizot It has lately become the fashion for party men and journalists to assert that the influence of the Papal See on political affairs no longer exists; that history proves her power to have been on the wane during many past years; that the march of intellect and spread of education have forced her to relinquish coercive power; and that the resumption of her former influence is impossible. We are constantly told by prelates, priests, and politicians, that the supremacy of the Pope in temporal affairs is not an established doctrine of the Roman Church; it is simply a sententia in ecelesia--an unadjudicated question, without positive authority, and incumbent upon no one s faith; that a Romanist may believe what he pleases on the subject, and be a good Churchman still. Those, on the...
